MARKET

The background image is a photograph of a large warehouse or factory floor. It is filled with tall, industrial metal shelving units that stretch into the distance. These shelves are densely packed with numerous large rolls of fabric. The fabrics feature a wide variety of colorful patterns, including floral, geometric, and abstract designs. The lighting is bright and even, highlighting the textures and colors of the materials. The perspective is from a low angle, looking down a long aisle between the rows of shelving, creating a sense of depth and scale.

STRUCTURING

Planning and purchasing of raw materials are two departments that act transversally in our Company's activities. Supported by our GPSYSTEM software, they offer fully effective control of our raw material needs, as well as real-time management of our internal supply chain and relationship with outsourced resources.

TRIMS

Trims are extremely valuable on a garment.

We have a department to deal exclusively with the development, purchase and handling of trims.

Permanently in line with our customers, we are constantly searching, developing and suggesting all kind of accessories to add value to their garment.

PATTERNS

Our patterns department has a team with experienced and committed pattern makers who, assisted by the GERBER AccuNest and AccuMark systems, develop a work that is key to the quality and adequacy of the final product.

PRECISION

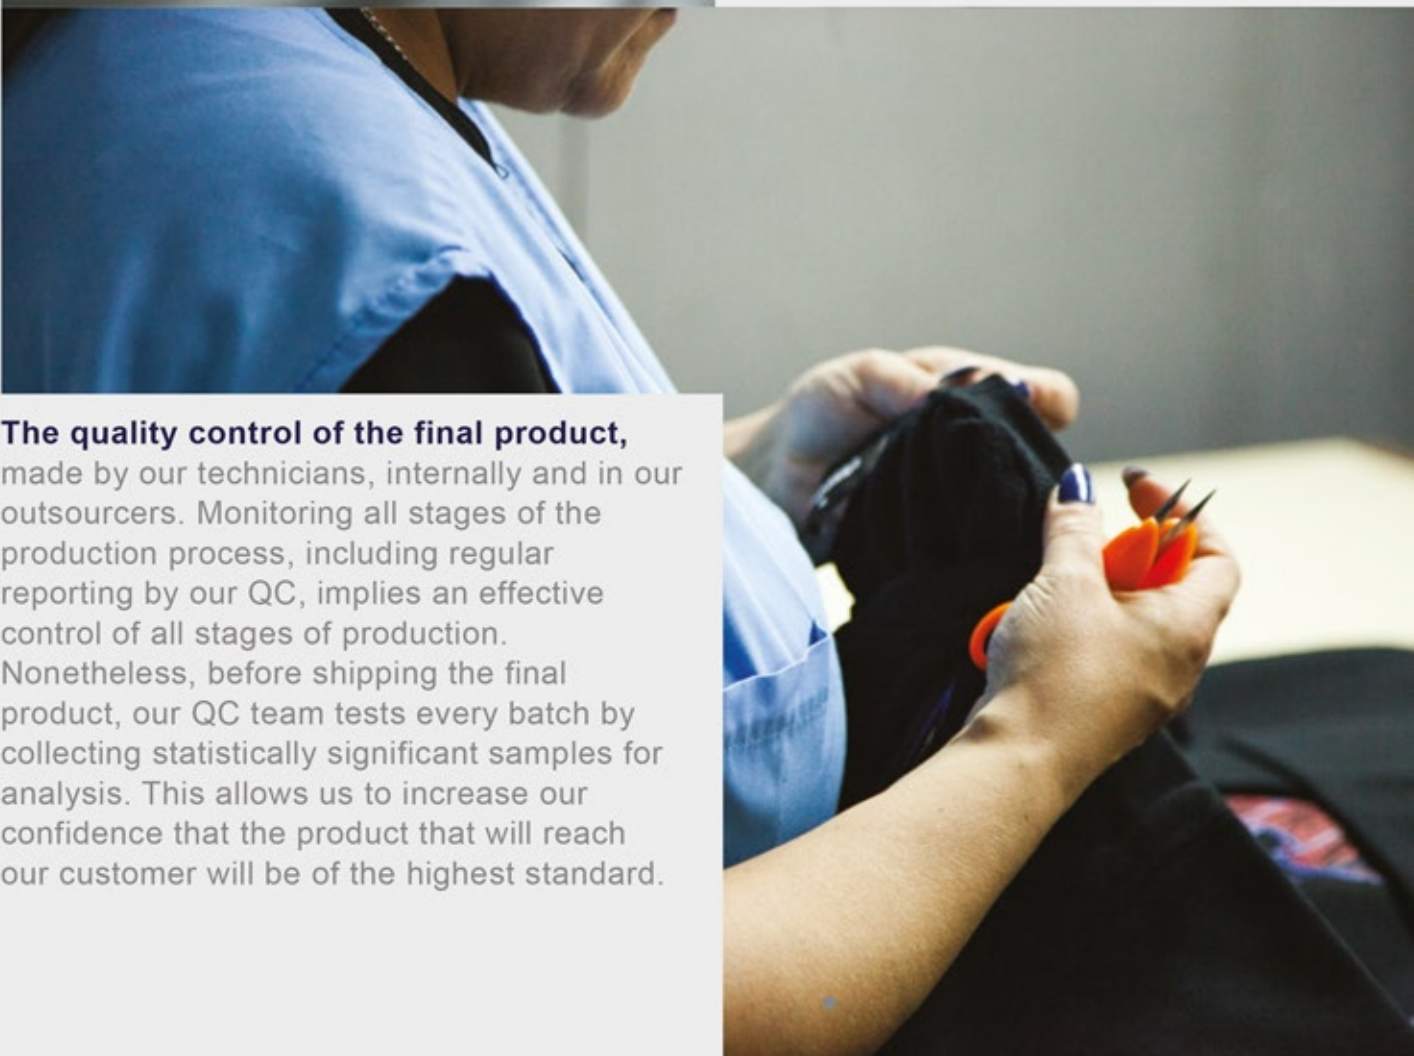

With two fully automated and one manual cutting tables, our GERBER cutting system is paramount in our production process. More than 90% of the garments we produce are cut in-house. This allows us to manage raw materials very effectively, removing the eventual non-conformities (streaks, stains, etc.) found by quality control, during the cutting process, with automatic or manual marker planning, which, together with the patterns department, allows us to ensure, with a high degree of certainty, an appropriate production behaviour in terms of measurements.

QUALITY

The quality control of raw materials is carried by capable and properly trained technicians, using automatic inspection machines, upon arrival at our facilities. They analyze fabric rolls, being able to perform full or partial inspections, according to parameters that are internally defined for the different types of raw materials. This process allocates and marks the nonconformities which are then analyzed by the responsible technician, who will determine their posterior management during cutting, if possible, or the non-acceptance and return of the raw material.

The quality control of the final product, made by our technicians, internally and in our outsourcers. Monitoring all stages of the production process, including regular reporting by our QC, implies an effective control of all stages of production. Nonetheless, before shipping the final product, our QC team tests every batch by collecting statistically significant samples for analysis. This allows us to increase our confidence that the product that will reach our customer will be of the highest standard.

CERTIFICATION AND MEMBERSHIP

The certification process is vital for our company. We believe that our values, our organization and, above all, the service we provide to our customers deserves recognition and prominence.

We are GOTS, OEKO-TEX and GRS certified and members of SAC (Sustainable Apparel Coalition) and SEDEX.

We are delighted to see our customers increasingly in line with the green and sustainable policies that we strongly subscribe to, therefore seeking to provide FORTIUSTEX with a certification that not only empowers our vision but also inspires a confidence in our processes that will be reflected in our customers end products.
